Lessons Learned in Projects

Discussion Topics:

- Who should be involved in the lessons learned process while a project is being evaluated?
- What are summative and formative evaluation approaches and their application to lessons learned in projects?
- Where are good references on project lessons learned that outline methods, instruments, and strategies (benchmarking and best practices)?
- Why is it important to utilize a methodology such as the PMBOK process groups and knowledge areas to conduct lessons learned?
- How can lessons learned be managed from start to finish to support organizational learning and thereby knowledge management?
- Which training resources are effective in helping project team members grow in their understanding of project lessons learned?
